Sources:
- https://blog.gitnux.com/workplace-productivity-statistics/

SIMPLIFYING DATA PROTECTION COMPLIANCE WITH THE DPO

Take a look at the following overview of the comparisons between the two options, taking into account these important factors:

CENTRE

THE REAL COST OF HIRING A DATA PROTECTION OFFICER

For organisations of all sizes. For those who are required or who would benefit from appointing a data protection officer, the next decision is whether to hire an in-house DPO or outsource the role.

Recruitment

- Recruitment agency: £5,000 to £20,000
- Head of DPO: £5,000 to £35,000
- DPO: £18,500

Benefits

- 33% won't work out in the first six months
- Zero additional cost
- 13.8% turnover
- £18,500

RISK

- Recruitment agency: £5,000 to £20,000
- Head of DPO: £5,000 to £35,000
- DPO: £18,500

EXPERIENCE AND EXPERTISE

- DPOs have constant access to our wider team of experts
- provide ongoing support
- manage a DPO without risk
- due to the independence of an outsourced DPO
- On tap

JOURNAL INVESTMENT

- An individual DPO can only perform DPOs are hard to find
- employment processes have many downsides
- an individual DPO can only perform

INVESTMENT

- £108,500 to £253,500 Based on a simple hourly rate
- £5,000 to £20,000
- £10,000 to £20,000

MANAGEMENT

- On tap
- Inefficiencies
- Representation, DSAR response and data protection officer services to over

Project

- Recruitment agency: £5,000 to £20,000
- Head of DPO: £5,000 to £35,000
- DPO: £18,500

Total cost

- £5,000+ Zero additional cost
- £1,500+ Zero additional cost
- £18,500