SAMPLE EXPERIENCE

Paul has worked with various organisations across a wide range of sectors, including private health care, retail, manufacturing, marketing, and eCommerce. He has developed and implemented tailored privacy programmes and targeted training sessions to internal DPOs.

As the Data Privacy Manager (DPM) for a major retail group, Paul led a team of privacy professionals, overseeing all data privacy matters across the organisation. He dealt with data subject rights requests and complaints, handled data breaches and notifications to the ICO, conducted Data Protection Impact Assessments (DPIAs), delivered staff training, and advised on personal data transfers.

Working for an online services company, Paul reviewed and advised on new and emerging legislation, particularly the GDPR. He provided guidance on the programme of work required to achieve compliance, whilst overseeing and managing the development and implementation of a GDPR compliance framework before the regulation came into effect.
